Tour Etiquette

Arrive With a FULL Tank of Gas!

Or, arrive early enough to fill up. Experienced tour leaders pick starting points with nearby filling stations (inexperienced tour leaders please take note). Don't be that guy who—after the drivers meeting—says “Everybody wait 15 minutes (or more) while I go fill my tank.”

Route Information

Planning a personal drive or want to see if a tour is good to go? Check:

Zone 8 Favorite Drives

We are a car club aren't we? So, shouldn't one of our favorite things be to drive in our cars? There are some PCA suggestions for driving routes that you might want to try with your Porsche. Click www.zone8.org/about/favorite_drives.php

“Survival Gear”

PCA Tours are not desperate struggles pitting man against nature. But! They usually are scenic drives in places a flatbed won't reach before you finish your lattes at the corner Starbucks. Just in case something should go wrong with one of the most reliable automotive marques, take along some things to keep yourselves comfortable if you have to wait:

- Water
- Snacks
- Sunscreen
- Hats
- Jackets
- Comfortable walking shoes

PCA Social Events

This section is just the “social” events—the ones where we typically put into practice the guiding principle of the PCA: when do we eat? Look in the other sections for tours (where the journey's the thing), tech sessions (with experts), concours, performance driving, autocross, etc.

Laguna Seca Sued by Rich Neighbors for Being a Race Track

The historic track's neighbors, which primarily consist of subdivisions built around country clubs, want racing shut down forever.

From The Drive, by James Gilboy | Updated Jan 19, 2024 10:59 AM EST

Laguna Seca is the foremost example of a racetrack choked by suburban sprawl. Though the circuit dates back to 1957, the once-secluded track has been hemmed in by noise limits and calendar limitations enacted at the request of local property owners. Now, the complainers are going for the throat by suing to end racing entirely, which might put the track's future in jeopardy.

Zone 8 Porsche Club of America Coming Events – March 2024

The track's operations are the subject of a legal complaint filed December 12 with Monterey County by the "Highway 68 Coalition," a group of nearby property owners and residents. The group and its legal representation pull out all the stops to assault Laguna Seca's legality, arguing it doesn't abide by environmental ordinances, that racing isn't allowed by zoning laws or the land use permit, and so on. They claim the circuit is "a public nuisance and has caused and will continue to cause irreparable injury not subject to money damages."

Laguna Seca already operates with strict limitations imposed by local authorities. The track disallows cars that are too loud (held to be more than 90 to 105 decibels), and as of a 1983 deal was limited to just 35 event days annually—24 of which were for 5,000 people or fewer. Because of the circuit's complicated history and legal status, it has effectively been grandfathered in as exempt to some local zoning and environmental laws. The niceties of these laws however are being plied by the plaintiffs to try to shut down racing.

Some of the track's operations are accommodated under language that allows the track to continue its "past history" of activity, with that period being defined as that occurring within the last three years. The plaintiffs use this to frame the track's bounce-back from the events of 2020 as a sharp increase in racing activity between 2021 and 2023. They also allege motorsport and similar events like track rentals "substantially increased compared to similar operations from 1974 until 2021," and that the track is still bound to restrictions enacted in 1985. (A new land use permit redrew those boundaries in 2023.)

The plaintiffs use this to frame the track's bounce-back from the events of 2020 as a sharp increase in racing activity between 2021 and 2023. They also allege motorsport and similar events like track rentals "substantially increased compared to similar operations from 1974 until 2021," and that the track is still bound to restrictions enacted in 1985. (A new land use permit redrew those boundaries in 2023.)

Of course, the plaintiffs don't want fewer races, they want them gone entirely. They assert that said land use permit and zoning laws only allow non-racing track use, and that renting out the track (in what capacity the plaintiffs didn't define) is forbidden. They seek to have all legacy protections stripped if the track is found to have a negative environmental impact, which they claim to be self-evident.

The plaintiffs alleged "the number of residences and residents adversely affected by the increased noise and traffic has substantially increased since 1974." Supposedly, the track has generated more noise despite the limited calendar, and has inadequate facilities. (The track is on county-owned land.) The track purportedly has inadequate sewage facilities and water supplies, which the plaintiffs purport contain high levels of arsenic. No numbers to back up any of these claims are provided in the document.

However, the plaintiffs don't complain about a gun range situated closer than the track to the nearest development: A subdivision surrounding a country club, The Club at Pasadera. Said club opened only in 2000 as a master-planned gated community, and advertises real estate on its website. The second-closest development is also a suburban neighborhood, built around a country club opened after the track's construction.

While it's unclear which interests the Highway 68 Coalition truly represents, it's clear those with the most at stake—aside from motorsports fans—are moneyed interests directly adjacent to the track. Whether they're trying to sue their way into some quiet or imagine a payday on the horizon, the lesson is clear. Don't buy a house at a racetrack if you don't want to hear the cars, and definitely don't make it other people's problem if you do.

Locals Sue Laguna Seca Over Noise and Traffic Complaints, Track Management Responds to Lawsuit

From Hemmings.com by Tara Hurlin, 01/30/2024

Sixty-seven years after the founding of Laguna Seca, one of North America's premier racetracks, disgruntled Monterey County, California residents filed a lawsuit against the iconic facility for excess noise and traffic concerns.

The group of local homeowners calls itself the Highway 68 Coalition. While the historic 11-turn, 2.238-mile road course was constructed in 1957, the locals didn't form the Coalition until 1974. It was originally organized to oppose a plan to turn the small highway into an expressway, hence the Highway 68 name. It wasn't until late last year, on December 12 that the Highway 68 Coalition filed a lawsuit against Monterey County, the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and the Friends of Laguna Seca (FLS), allegedly stating the facility causes nuisance issues for local residents, such as increased noise and traffic during track days, you know, the kind of activity that you'd expect to experience when choosing to live near a famous racetrack. Group attorney Richard Rosenthal reportedly claimed that the track is now used "340 days a year," leaving the circuit rarely quiet, while FLS states that the Highway 68 Coalition is "attempting to interrupt its stewardship and improvements of the Laguna Seca Recreational Area."

“We live here too and share the same concerns as our neighbors about noise and traffic,” said Ross Merrill, President of FLS. “Our team of experienced business and community leaders are eager to move forward to revive this staple in our community for decades of future success and revenue generation for Monterey County.”

FLS also notes that it is “bound in the concession agreement to the historical usage of the Laguna Seca Recreational Area and the existing policies limiting attendance and sound at the Park” and therefore is “required under the contract to invest in the facilities and infrastructure including a sound study and noise mitigation.”

Laguna Seca reportedly brought in $246 million in economic impact in 2022 and $350,000 in 2023. Last year, the track was rented out a total of 131 times.

The lawsuit reads: “These increases include but are not limited to more racetrack event days, higher permitted noise levels, additional track rental days with intensified noise in excess of 100 dB, increased traffic, inadequate water supply and water quality, inadequate sewage disposal and expansion of the camping grounds.”

From the sounds of it, the lawsuit is not expected to impact the 2024 racing season. A spokesman for Monterey County told SFGate, a San Francisco Bay Area news website, that it “is unfortunate certain individuals have chosen to file a complaint against the County concerning operations at Laguna Seca” and that it “does not recognize any merit to the allegations and expects a favorable legal conclusion.”

County: Residents Suing Over Activity, Noise At Laguna Seca Have No Case

From Roadracing World & Motorcycle Technology © 2024, Roadracing World Publishing, Inc. By David Swarts, February 7, 2024

A group of California property owners and residents are suing the County of Monterey (which owns WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca) over increased activity at the track and the resulting increases in noise, traffic, and other environmental issues.

In its Complaint and Petition filed with the Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, on December 12, 2023, the Highway 68 Coalition claims that the County of Monterey was incorrect in approving the current Concession Agreement with Friends of Laguna Seca in 2023 because the County used “categorical exemptions to excuse the preparation and consideration of a legally adequate environmental review pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).”

But unlike some media reports and Internet forum headlines, the lawsuit is not trying to completely shut down WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca.

Highway 68 Coalition is asking the court to order the County of Monterey and Friends of Laguna Seca to “cease and desist” from allowing activity at Laguna Seca Raceway to produce noise levels “in excess of the level of use and noise that existed at the time...when the applicable zoning was established” in 1985.

In a statement, the County of Monterey responded: “It is unfortunate certain individuals have chosen to file a complaint against the County concerning operations at Laguna Seca. The County does not recognize any merit to the allegations and expects a favorable legal conclusion. In the meantime, the lawsuit does not impact Laguna Seca’s scheduled activities and events for 2024.

In 2022, WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca produced an economic impact of $247 million in the Monterey County area from just its six spectator events, according to a survey of ticket purchasers. And that does not take into account spending by people attending the dozens of track days, schools, and non-racing events at the track.

A hearing on this case has been scheduled for June 20, 2024.

Thousands Of Porsche, Bentley, Audi Cars Held Up In US Over Banned Chinese Part

There are concerns forced labor may have been used to produce an electronic component in western China

From CarScoops, by Brad Anderson February 15, 2024 at 07:59

The VW Group finds itself in hot water as thousands of luxury Porsche, Bentley, and Audi models have been impounded at U.S. ports, according to a new report. This action comes after the revelation that a Chinese component used in these vehicles breaches anti-forced labor laws.

Unnamed individuals with knowledge of the matter told the Financial Times that the VW Group was unaware of the origin of the part, as it comes from an indirect supplier deep within its supply chain. The issue only came to light after the supplier alerted the group, prompting a delay in the delivery of vehicles until as late as the end of March while the part is replaced.

Under the Uyghur Forced Labor Prevention Act of 2021, products manufactured with forced labor in China's Xinjiang region, among other areas, are prohibited from importation into the United States. While the precise origin of the part has not been disclosed publicly, it is believed to have originated from 'western China.' Impounded vehicles include around 1,000 Porsche models, hundreds of Bentleys, and several thousand Audi models

"As soon as we received information of allegations regarding one of our sub-suppliers, we have been investigating the matter," VW said in a statement. "We will clarify the facts and then take appropriate steps. These may also include the termination of a supplier relationship if our investigations confirm serious violations."

VW has notified owners of the affected vehicles via a letter, explaining that the problematic component is a "small electronic component that is a part of a larger control unit, which will be replaced." However, the letter did not disclose the component's origin.

"Deliveries continue, however some unavoidable delays may occur, for which we apologize. We are contacting each customer to keep them informed," the automaker told Fox Business in a statement,

"Volkswagen takes allegations of infringements of human rights very seriously, both within the company and in the supply chain. Of course, this also includes any allegations of forced labor," Volkswagen added. "When we receive information on human rights risks or potential infringements, we strive to remedy them as quickly as possible. As soon as we received information of allegations regarding one of our sub-suppliers, we have been investigating the matter."

This is not the first time the VW Group's business in the Xinjiang region has been under the spotlight. The German carmaker currently operates a joint venture facility in the Xinjiang capital of Urumqi with SAIC and earlier this week, said it would discuss "the future direction of business" in the region after claims of forced labor were made in the German press.

The carmaker has already started to fix the cars stuck at ports but clearing the backlog could take several weeks.
