January 2026 PCA Tours

Thursday 22 January 2026, Santa Barbara Region Thomas Aquinas College

Thomas Aquinas College

Architecture, Excellence, and a Santa Paula Ascent

Thursday, January 22, 2026

We meet at 8:30 a.m. in Ventura—the parking lot adjacent to 996–1000 South Seward Ave.—and depart at 9:00 a.m. Following a spirited drive through the scenic hills of Ventura County, we arrive at the campus of Thomas Aquinas College (TAC), a destination offering stunning architecture and a unique intellectual perspective. TAC sits on a plateau overlooking the Santa Paula Valley. The campus architecture is modeled after the classic Spanish Missions of California, featuring white stucco walls, red tile roofs, and colonnades that make the entire grounds an architectural gem. The Chapel of St. Thomas Aquinas is a must-see, especially for its soaring design. TAC's curriculum is built on reading and discussing the Great Books of the Western World—from Homer to Einstein—entirely through seminars, not lectures. This offers a fascinating glimpse into a timeless style of learning. We will also visit the St. Cecilia Library, a sanctuary of original thought specifically curated with primary source texts, reflecting a commitment to intellectual tradition. It offers a contemplative atmosphere that contrasts with the fast pace of the modern world. This is a day where driving excellence meets architectural and intellectual beauty.

The cost is $25 per person, including lunch (plus the $2 msreg fee). The limit is 40 participants and the cutoff date to register is January 15. Register at www.msreg.com/TAC2026 Questions: Howard Rubenstein hrrca1@gmail.com.

CUSTODIAN OF ICONS

Saturday, February 7, 2026

Bruce Meyer is more than just a car collector; he's an ambassador for automotive history. Meyer often refers to himself as a "caretaker" or "custodian" of historic vehicles, not just a collector. As a co-founder and founding chairman of the Petersen Automotive Museum, he is highly respected and a key figure in preserving car culture. His personal collection is particularly known for its winners from the 24 Hours of Le Mans, including the legendary 1979 Kremer Porsche 935 K3. His collection includes a 1973 Porsche 911 Carrera RSR 2.8, which won both the SCCA Trans-Am and IMSA GT Championships. And much more.

Following Saturday Cars & Coffee in Camarillo, we'll caravan to his collection in Los Angeles and meet at his private garage, a short walk from public parking. The meeting location will be given to registrants at a later time. Cost is $50/person (plus $2 msreg fee), of which 100% of net profit will be given to a charity of Meyer's choosing. Parking fees are extra. We are limited to 70 participants. This event will sell out! Register early at www.msreg.com/SBRMeyerCollection. Tour Etiquette

Arrive With a FULL Tank of Gas!

Or, arrive early enough to fill up. Experienced tour leaders pick starting points with nearby filling stations (inexperienced tour leaders please take note). Don't be that guy who—after the drivers' meeting—says "Everybody wait 15 minutes (or more) while I go fill my tank."

Zone 8 Favorite Drives

We are a car club aren't we? So, shouldn't one of our favorite things be to drive in our cars? There are some PCA suggestions for driving routes that you might want to try with your Porsche. Click www.zone8.org/about/favorite_drives.php

"Survival Gear"

PCA Tours are not desperate struggles pitting man against nature. But! They usually are scenic drives in places a flatbed won't reach before you finish your lattes at the corner Starbucks. Just in case something should go wrong with one of the most reliable automotive marques, take along some things to keep yourselves comfortable if you have to wait:

- Water
- Snacks
- Sunscreen
- Hats
- Jackets
- Comfortable walking shoes

WINTER is COMING

Winter is Coming!

Be careful with summer-only tires! They won't give the performance you're used to when it gets below 45°F. You might also give some thought to what's in your windshield washer.

From Michelin

What are summer tires?

With a shallower tread pattern and a stiff, sticky tread compound that offers excellent grip on dry and wet surfaces, summer tires are specifically designed to deliver optimal performances in temperatures above 7°C (45°F).

What are winter tires?

Winter tires are specifically designed for safe driving in temperatures below 7°C (45°F), and severe conditions such as ice and snow. They're also made of a more supple material, helping them stay soft enough to grip the road even in freezing temperatures.

What are all-season tires?

All-season tires or 4-season tires as they are also commonly known, combine technologies from summer and winter tires and can be used all year round. All-season tires guarantee mobility and safety for temperatures ranging from -10°C to +30°C (14°F to 86°F).)

From Pirelli

The optimum temperature for making the switch is 7 degrees Celsius (45°F).

From the Tire Rack

Summer performance tires feature tread rubber compounds engineered to provide traction in warm to hot temperatures only. As temperatures drop into the 40s, a summer performance tire's tread compound changes from a pliable elastic to an inflexible plastic, drastically reducing traction capabilities. The tire industry calls this process the "glass transition." And, without traction, your vehicle will have a hard time staying on the road!

In fact, should summer performance tires even be exposed to near- or below-freezing temperatures, tread compound cracking or tread block chipping can occur. Once a tire has been damaged in this way, it will need to be replaced. And, as both types of damage only occur as the result of improper use or storage, they will not typically be covered by the manufacturer's warranty.

PCA Social Events

This section is just the “social” events—the ones where we typically put into practice the guiding principle of the PCA: when do we eat? Look in the other sections for tours (where the journey’s the thing), tech sessions (with experts), concours, performance driving, autocross, etc.

'Here we go': Motorists speed through Highway 1 in Big Sur for the first time in 3 years

'This is a big deal'

Zone 8 Porsche Club of America Coming Events – February 2026

Brandon Steiner woke up Wednesday morning with no idea that he'd become a part of California history.

Steiner, from Minnesota and out on the West Coast for a work trip, decided to take the scenic route from Los Angeles to San Jose early Wednesday. Shortly after 11 a.m., he found himself stopped at a road block near the southern end of Big Sur, with an eager lineup of cars, including many classics, queuing behind him.

Just before noon, Steiner would become the first driver to traverse what had been a closed stretch of Highway 1 from the south in exactly three years. "I was working in LA, and I wanted to take the coast all the way up. I did not know the road was even closed," he told SFGATE with a smile just moments before Caltrans and California Highway Patrol officials opened the road. "So I guess I get to be the first one to go through in three years and didn't even know it was closed."

In early 2023, a massive storm created rock- and mudslides that covered California's Highway 1 in rubble and debris, shutting the coastal thoroughfare down and bisecting the route through Big Sur. On Wednesday, at noon, three years to the day of the historically long highway shutdown, the road opened to through traffic once more.

Video at <https://cdn.jwplayer.com/manifests/SdX5uytF.m3u8>

Several vintage Porsches were amongst the first cars to drive through the long-closed section of Highway 1 in Big Sur for the first time in three years on Jan. 14, 2026. The highway reopened just before noon and drivers from the south lined up in anticipation.

Andrew Pridgen/SFGATE

“This reopening will bring much-needed relief to small businesses and families in Big Sur and the surrounding communities who have shown remarkable resilience and strength,” Gov. Gavin Newsom said in a statement. “... This vital corridor is the gateway to California’s coast and the lifeblood of the Big Sur economy—and today it’s restored.”

Some motorists coming from the south missed the through road so much, they stood outside their classic cars, having gotten up early just to see their beloved stretch of California highway intact once more. “Road opening, here we go,” Craig Smith from Morro Bay told SFGATE while standing outside his vintage silver Porsche 911. As if a green flag had just dropped, he jumped into the Porsche’s cockpit and started his engine.

“Going to Nepenthe, first time in a long time,” Smith continued as he waved and sped away.

‘This is a big deal’

On Jan. 14, 2023, a 4.3-mile section of road known as Paul’s Slide closed as a massive atmospheric river pounded the coastline. Though Paul’s Slide reopened in June 2024, a second storm impacted another part of the road at Regent’s Slide, just south of the Esalen Institute. That section has been closed since Feb. 9, 2024.

During that time, it was impossible to reach Big Sur from San Simeon, a coastal destination just south of the closure that has struggled mightily during the highway closure. And those traveling from the north through Monterey County had to make a U-turn to return to the Bay Area.

“The reopening is happening on Wednesday,” Caltrans spokesperson Kevin Drabinski confirmed to SFGATE via phone Monday. “Wednesday early is when we’ll see the first cars.”

The news about the highway’s potential reopening began to circulate around Big Sur during the holidays. Caltrans officials let those in the region know that they were making steady progress on Regent’s Slide and could have the highway open by the first of the year.

Several vintage Porsches queue up to be among the first to drive through the reopened Highway 1 through Big Sur.

Andrew Pridgen/SFGATE

Wet weather persisted, but at the end of the first week of January, word spread that they were getting very close to the historic reopening.

In the run-up to having through traffic in the region once more, some of the area's leaders and business owners were circumspect about the news.

"There's a lot of conjecture about good weather, bad weather once the road's open," Deetjen's Big Sur Inn general manager Matt Glazer told SFGATE on Monday via phone. "Is it going to be restricted work, some kind of convoy, or some kind of gated situation? Given that we don't know what the access is, we're not going to make any immediate shifts."

Glazer said he's looking forward to seeing traffic from the south coming by Deetjen's, one of the last outposts before motorists are turned around at the slide site from the north, noting the highway's reopening would elicit a lot of emotions. "This is a big deal," he said.

A cabin at Deetjen's Big Sur Inn, in Big Sur, Calif.

Glazer says that visitation to the region hasn't been "normal" since 2015. A series of individually cataclysmic events have happened in succession over the past decade: first with weather events and a change in administration limiting international travel, then the COVID-19 pandemic, the highway closures, and the return of an administration that has doubled down on policies discouraging foreign travelers from entering the U.S.

When asked what he thought the future might hold, Glazer said that he felt it's going to take a while for visitors, especially those coming from south of the closure, to put Big Sur in their plans again. "Human behavior and consumer confidence are difficult to shift, difficult to navigate," he said. He said that during the closure, Big Sur has learned to be self-sufficient.

"Can we ever go back to how it was? It's impossible to contextualize ... but the one thing we can continue to say is things will continue to change," he said.

This breaking story has been updated.
